Q & A

What is Nat-Stim®?

Nat-Stim® is a very unique, NATural immune STIMulator developed by European scientists affiliated with the World Health Organization. Using a novel, proprietary method that took years to perfect, they derived immune enhancing cell wall fractions from a special strain of Lactobacillus bulgaricus, a naturally occurring friendly bacterium found in the intestinal tract and in some probiotic foods like yogurt. They combined these cell wall fractions to produce Nat-Stim®, a powerful immune booster with the ability to help build and continuously support healthy immune function for optimal immune defense.

What does Nat-Stim® do?

Nat-Stim® is designed to be an aid to staying well. It is formulated to strongly support and enhance both specific and general aspects of immune function necessary for maintaining health, and to help promote reliable, vigorous immune function, especially in the lungs, bronchi, throat, nose and intestines. This outstanding product is in a class of its own because of its ability to work so naturally and effectively with the body's own immune processes in a way that deepens over time and provides long term support for healthy immune function. In our experience, the longer Nat-Stim® is taken regularly the better it works. In addition, because Nat-Stim® helps promote a strong immune response, it also helps cut down recovery time.

It safely supports both cellular and humoral aspects of the immune system, giving it a broad scope of enhancement that continues to deepen over time. Nat-Stim® is not a pharmaceutical and does not work like a drug. It helps invigorate, build up and support the body's own immune processes naturally for optimal immune protection, even when taken for extended periods. It is designed for regular, daily use to help maintain health without losing its effectiveness over time.

What makes Nat-Stim® different?

Nat-Stim® is exceptional in that over time it helps build and support many specific and general aspects of immune function necessary for maintaining health. It is designed for regular, daily use to help maintain immune strength and vigor, even when taken for extended periods.

How do I take Nat-Stim®?

Take 1-2 capsules a day with water or juice 30 minutes before breakfast or on an empty stomach, or as otherwise directed by your health practitioner. If swallowing capsules is difficult, open the capsules and mix the mild tasting contents into any beverage or soft food. when extra immune support is desired. If you need more immune support, take double the normal amount.

Who should take Nat-Stim®?

Regular use of Nat-Stim® can be very beneficial to anyone who wants to strengthen, support and maintain healthy immune function in a safe, natural way.

How quickly will Nat-Stim® begin to work?

Although there have been reports of Nat-Stim® making a noticeable difference in as little as 2 days, and some results are often seen within 10 days, we find it usually takes about 2 weeks to begin working effectively. Taken daily, Nat-Stim® continues to build immune strength and function. After 3 months, we have found that most people can decrease their intake by half and still maintain the same level of results.

Yes, Nat-Stim® actually works best when a person is well, continually strengthening the immune system and getting it ready for challenges. Remaining well requires healthy immune function, and Nat-Stim® promotes vigorous and effective immune function necessary to maintaining good health. Just remember that it takes several weeks of regular use to work optimally. Many people simply choose to use it daily to help strengthen their overall immune function.
